

GIRAFFE COOKIES

First thing's first...the snack! This giraffe cookie inspired by The Devilish Dish goes along perfectly with Giraffes Can't Dance. Not only is it fun to make, but it tastes great, too! (You could also make these monkey cookies since there are monkeys in the story, too!)

Ingredients:

- Nutter Butter Cookies
- Graham Crackers
- Chocolate Chips
- Pretzel Sticks

Directions:

- First, break off a long piece of graham cracker to use as the giraffe's neck. Attach a nutter butter cookie to the top with peanut butter. This is your giraffe's head.
- Then, use peanut butter to put chocolate chips on your giraffe's neck.
- Next, use peanut butter to put candy eyes and a rolo nose on your giraffe's head. (I cut the rolo first so it was flat.)
- Add raisins for the ears and pretzel sticks for the ossicones (horns of the giraffe.)

- Enjoy your snack! (You can also make any substitutions...raisins could be used in place of the chocolate chips, or chocolate chips could be used in place of the raisins or the rolo...do what works for you!)
